Max Benefits

We've updated "Max Benefits calculations (originally added to ECLIPSE on 5/20/2016). As designed in 2016, ECLIPSE took the copay into its calculation when determining any effects of a "max benefit" (available on the Guarantor tab). This doesn't actually fit the currently accepted definition: "The maximum benefit dollar limit refers to the maximum amount of money that an insurance company (or self-insured company) will pay for claims within a specific time period.", so our calculations have been updated. Deductible calculations are another matter. Since ECLIPSE doesn't know how many procedures will ultimately be entered for the date, it adds some information about the max benefit in the information window – including any amounts over the max benefit that are expected to be adjusted at the time the bill is created. This is available now if you download an update.

ANSI 835 Remittance

We rewrote the programming code to cut memory usage by > 99% during import of unusually large ANSI 835 remittance files (> 1 MB). This is available now if you download an update.

ECLIPSE EHR Cloud Patient Scheduling From Your Website

Let's briefly discuss online patient self-scheduling with ECLIPSE EHR Cloud. We will provide your office with a unique URL (link) that you can add to your website. Patients can find availability within a custom view of your scheduler without using a patient portal. All they need to provide is a DOB along with a cell# and/or email address. In the event you prefer they don't schedule their own appointments, you will have an alternate ability to receive a message for their preferred day/time so you or your staff can schedule the appointment manually & notify the patient.

ECLIPSE EHR Cloud

In the event you missed it, a 30 minute introductory webinar is now available by clicking here. We are still working out the kinks in the onboarding experience, where your account, database, subscription, Business Associate Agreement (which is signed electronically), Microsoft 365 email account, optional Twilio account (for texting) with phone # assignment, user credentials and other housekeeping items are all automated into a few screens. This is critical to the product's release.
